Piney Run House was built in 1891 by Roderick O. Shipley. The two-and-a-half-story frame house was built in the Queen Anne style of architecture with its irregular plan, wall texture variations, two-story bay window, and cross gable roof. The house is L-shaped in plan with several one-story additions on the rear (west) façade and one on the north façade. The main house block has retained some of its character-defining features, including the wood clapboards and shingles, wood louvered shutters, two-story bay window, and door surround with pilasters and transom lights. Earlier documentation indicates a verandah was once on the main (east) façade and that some window replacement has occurred. Three outbuildings are situated on the parcel behind the house and represent its historic use as a farm. These structures include a meat house, well house, and barn. A modern day garage is situated north of the house.

It is under criterion C that Piney Run might be considered eligible for listing on the NRHP. Piney Run embodies some of the characteristics distinctive to the Queen Anne style of architecture, as mentioned above. However, it is the opinion of the Ottery Group that Piney Run is not eligible for listing on the NRHP due to the numerous unsympathetic additions, the removal of character defining features associated with the Queen Anne style of architecture, and its compromised setting. The once rural location of Piney Run now contains highways and commercial developments. A water tower and stadium are in the viewshed of the property and have compromised its setting as well. Piney Run is not associated with events, or persons important to local, state, or national history (Criteria A and B). It has not yielded, nor is likely to yield information important in prehistory or history (Criterion D).

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Piney Run was built in 1891 by Roderick O. Shipley. It is a two-part, two-story frame house. The north section is three bays long with an A-roof running north-south. A chimney rises at its north end. There is a one-story, open porch across the east (front) elevation. The porch supports are decorated with elaborate scroll work brackets and are joined with a low railing. The main entrance to the house is located in the south bay under the porch.

The south section of the house has a A-roof, running east-west. The east elevation consists of a two-story, semi-hexagonal (in plan) bay front with a large window in each section.

The entire house is sheathed in white, board siding. The trim, including the vertical corner facings, is painted green. All of the windows in the house have large pane, 2/2 sashes, and all have shutters.

The house is presently occupied by a third generation of Shipleys. For more information see the enclosed sheets.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Piney Run is a 2 story, L- shaped frame dwelling built in 1891 in a vernacular Carpenter Gothic style. It has an irregular plan, similar to that seen in Queen Anne style buildings, which makes it different from most of the other late 19th century dwellings in the County. The ell at Piney Run is not a wing, containing the kitchen; instead, it is used as a stylistic element on the front of the house. The south gable of the ell extends beyond the entrance bay on the front elevation and displays a three- sided, Two story, bay window with imbricated shingles above it. A veranda with bracketed posts has been removed from the front elevation and a wing added to the north elevation.

The owner is the third generation to live in the house which was built for Roderick O. Shipley in 1891 by local carpenters. All of the woodwork in the house is cypress.

MEMORIAL

July 17, 1974

It is with deep sadness that we note the passing of Mrs. Linda Bielas, a Director and life member of the Ann Arrundell County Historical Society, on July 11, 1974. Mrs. Bielas has been one of the most active members of the society, working in the Browse and Buy Shop and only several months ago became a life member. She was regular in her attendance at the Board meetings where she kept a firm eye on the budget. She displayed a keen interest in all the business of the society and we will miss her important assistance in its decisions. The Ann Arrundell County Historical Society expressed its sympathy and sorrow with a beautiful basket of flowers.

E. Roderick Shipley, M.D.
President

VOLUNTEERS ALL

Mrs. Arthur Ozvath recently held a Coffee at her home in Chartwell for the purpose of getting new members and procuring volunteers to man the Browse and Buy Shop of the Anne Arundel County Historical Society. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Thomas German and Mrs. A.W. Taff.

Those assisting with refreshments were Mrs. Fredrick Stroh, Mrs. Leslie Smith and Mrs. Arthur Stolins. It was a delightful occasion in a charming setting and all those present thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

BOOK REVIEW

'The Maryland Historical Magazine', a quarterly published by The Maryland Historical Society included in its publication Vol. 69 No. 1 Spring 1974 a most interesting Book Review by Mark Norton Schatz, our esteemed vice president.

Mr. Schatz reviewed History of the Town of Glen Burnie, by Ruth P. Eason. (Glen Burnie, Maryland: The Kuethe Library, Inc., 1972. Pp. 19, 220. $6.50.)

Our organization is very proud to have Mrs. Eason as a member. We hope to pay a special tribute to her in a future issue of the Ann Arrundell County Historical Society's Bulletin.

BIRTHDAY

Congratulations to Mrs. Oscar H. MacNemar on the occasion of her 98th birthday! She celebrated with her four sons and their families on September 11.

Mrs. MacNemar has made many contributions to our bulletin, some of which will appear in our next issue.

PINEY RUN

'Piney Run' was built in 1891 by Roderick O. Shipley. Early in his adult life, Rod Shipley had promised to live with and take care of his uncle, William Disney. He inherited the farm after the death of Uncle William. In this Disney home he married Wilhelmina Clark and fathered three children. The children played happily there and walked about two miles to a one-room country school.

As his fortunes progressed, R.O. Shipley decided to build a new home. He purchased a tract of land where the house now stands from Enos Shipley. He kept a portion of the Disney farm in order to have some woodland to furnish firewood. The remaining portion of the Disney farm was sold to Mr. Robert Owens.

An old friend from Howard County was called in to use a divining rod in order to select a spot for a well. A well was dug, water was struck almost immediately, and the well has never run dry. R.O. Shipley did not build until water was found.

The house was built by local carpenters. Mr. John Kelbaugh who was the contractor lived nearby. One of the carpenters was his cousin, Will Shipley. Great care was taken in the selection of the lumber that was used in the new house. Cypress was used for all the interior woodwork. White pine was used for all the underpinning, the house being built without a basement. The home was heated by two Latrobe stoves, one in the parlor and one in the sitting room, plus a cast-iron kitchen range and auxiliary chunk stove for severe weather. Heat in the second story came from the registers above the Latrobe stoves.

This farm once had a barn, a cow stable, a carriage shed, tool shed, wagon shed, chicken house, and corn crib. Life was good on this farm, and it became quite productive and profitable. Dr. A.M. Shipley and his sisters, Edna and Irma, spent their younger years in this house. Miss Irma remained in this house and managed the farm until her death in 1942. At the present time Dr. E.R. Shipley and his family make it their home, being the third generation in the house.
